JOURNEY'S END—East Stroudsburg's Assistant Police Chief Edward Harlow inspects this 1947 sedan which was pushing a pre-war car on the Berwick Heights Road yesterday afternoon, when this auto crashed into a tree and the other overturned. Police said LeRoy Blackwell, 39, of Philadelphia, was driving the vehicle pictured above, while the other was being operated by George J. Roberts, 39, also of Philadelphia. Both were arrested on motor vehicle charges.

Two Arrested After Auto Accident

TWO PHILADELPHIA men were arrested following a freak accident on the Berwick Heights Road in East Stroudsburg yesterday afternoon.

A car operated by LeRoy Blackwell, 39, of Philadelphia, was pushing another vehicle being driven by George J. Roberts, 39, also of Philadelphia, when the first crashed into a tree, and the other overturned, East Stroudsburg Police reported.

Blackwell was committed to the borough lock-up to await hearing on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor, while Roberts paid a $10 fine and costs after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace Elmer P. Bean to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without any registration plates.

Laceration
Police said George W. Harper, Jr., 42, of Chester, suffered a laceration over the left eye, while Donald Lee Jones, 23, also of Chester, received lacerations of the chin and forehead. Both were treated at General Hospital and later discharged.

The accident was investigated by Assistant Police Chief Edward Harlow and Patrolmen Robert Schoonover and James Smith.

Ten Perish In Collapse Of Building

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP)—Three official investigations were launched today into the roaring collapse of a partly completed office building which claimed the lives of 10 workmen.

A fifth body was recovered to-night, more than 24 hours after the four-story structure crumbled, and rescue workers said there is no chance the five men still missing could be alive.

Vital Offices
The Consumers Power Co., which had planned to house vital offices in the concrete building, called in two University of Michigan professors in an effort to determine cause of the collapse.

Named to investigate are Glenn L. Alt and Leo M. Legatski. Separate investigations were also ordered by the general contractors, Herlihy Mid-Continent Co., of Chicago, and the architects, Black & Black of Lansing, Mich. The State Legislature may also investigate.

In addition to the 10 dead, the landslide of steel and still-wet concrete injured 15 other workmen in one of Michigan's worst industrial accidents. More than a dozen other workmen jumped to safety as the heavy concrete flooring gave way.

Kefauver Jabs Back At Remarks Made By Dewey

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver today jabbed back at Thomas E. Dewey's charges against Adlai Stevenson, declaring that "apparently it has been decided by the Republican high command that Mr. Dewey will be the one taking the low road this time."

But while he made the "low road" charge against the two-time Republican presidential nominee, Kefauver said he still believes the campaign tactics of Vice President Nixon will remain an issue of the 1956 campaign.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee criticized both Dewey and Nixon as he made his first campaign foray into California in a bid for that state's 32 electoral votes.

Big Three Seek Unity In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—The Western Big Three struggled today for unity in the U. N. Security Council on the Erez Canal crisis—amid criticism of the United States from abroad, especially from France.

The Council convenes tomorrow to begin debate on the canal issue. For the first time in its history, foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Soviet Union will sit in the Council, plus foreign ministers from Belgium and Yugoslavia.

As the West conferred on a common approach to the problem, a discordant note was sounded in Paris by Andre le Troquer, Socialist speaker of the French National Assembly. He denounced what he called the "near impotence" of U. S. Suez policy and blamed it on the election campaign.

Circles
Some British circles also have been critical of Secretary of State Dulles but spokesmen for the British and French delegations here sought to minimize any disagreements. They said all three countries are united on the major objective, a solution of the canal crisis based on international law and justice.

The Council faces a possible procedural snag at the start. Israel today repeated her request to be heard when the Council debate touches on the unrestricted passage of all ships, including Israeli vessels, through the canal.

In a counter-request, seven Arab countries want to speak when the debate touches on items having a special interest for Syria, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Yemen, Libya or Jordan. Egypt already has been invited to speak.

Some Council delegates, hoping to avoid a debate which might bring in the Israeli-Arab conflict, predicted the Council would not act on these requests until the Big Powers have made their opening speeches and the debate is well advanced.

Actually, the Council will meet to consider two items:
1. A complaint by Britain and France against Egypt's "unilateral action" ending the system of international operation of the Suez Canal.

2. A complaint by Egypt that some powers, particularly France and Britain, have endangered peace and violated the U. N. Charter.

Headquarters For Operation Hi-Water Moved From Stroudsburg Locality To ABE Airport

HEADQUARTERS for Operation Hi-Water, the gigantic air maneuver which will take place Oct. 13 and 14, have been shifted from the Stroudsburg area to the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

This was announced last night by the U. S. Air Force and its auxiliary, the Civil Air Patrol.

One phase of the operation will have the Mount Pocono Airport as its base, however. Maj. William A. Bechtel, of the local CAP, will command operations there.

Reason given for transferring the headquarters was that area hotels and resorts which are still open will be filled for the Columbus Day weekend and sufficient housing accommodations could not be found for all the high officials and others who will attend the maneuver.

Maj. Bechtel said 11 governors have been invited to witness the

Ike Crams Extra Day Into Schedule

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon checked campaign notes and strategy today and Eisenhower sandwiched an extra day into his political expedition to the Pacific Northwest.

The White House said, however, that the added day isn't being put into the schedule at Nixon's urging.

Nevertheless, the vice president reportedly has been tugging at his running mate to get out around the country and be seen more, in an effort to cash in on the Eisenhower personal popularity in the weeks before the November election.

Nixon himself is just back from 16 days of rugged campaigning that took him 15,000 miles through 32 states.

In advance of reporting to the nation by television tonight, Nixon called at the White House and spent an hour and a quarter with the President.

Plans
Eisenhower is planning to leave for the Northwest a day earlier—Oct. 16, instead of Oct. 17. He still plans to get back to Washington on Oct. 19.

Campaign activities en route—in Minneapolis and St. Paul—will be moved up a day.

Instead of a joint appearance on radio and television with Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington, who is running for the U. S. Senate on the GOP ticket, Eisenhower will speak at a rally at the Civic Auditorium in Seattle.

Also, the President will spend a night at the home of his brother, Edgar, a lawyer in Tacoma, Wash.

Stop In Pittsburgh
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower will spend about seven hours in Pittsburgh next Tuesday when he comes here for a major campaign speech.

operations. Among those from the Pentagon who will be present are Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles; Gen. Nathan F. Twining, USAF chief of staff; Gen. Ogle, surgeon general, USAF, and "Rosie" O'Donnell, USAF chief of personnel.

The Air Force's huge flying hospitals will make their national debut during the maneuvers. USAF-CAP headquarters reported. The air rescue hospital units are C-123s, larger than the familiar Flying Boxcars, and equipped with complete hospital facilities and medical teams.

Operation Hi-Water will involve a simulated disaster emergency such as the 1955 flood. Helicopters will work in conjunction with the C-123s, flying "casualties" to Andrews Air Force Base in Washington, D. C., and Mitchell Air Force Base, Long Island, N. Y.

Stevenson Terms GOP Claim 'Brazen'

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson tonight assailed what he termed the "brazen" Republican "effort to seize partisan credit for progress in civil rights."

Campaigning on the sidewalks of New York, the Democratic presidential candidate moved into Harlem to say that he is "pretty disgusted" with GOP efforts to take credit for ending segregation in the armed forces.

Harlem is a densely populated Negro area, symbolic of the Northern Negro vote so eagerly wooed by both parties.

In his prepared speech, at the second of two street corner rally appearances tonight, Stevenson mentioned President Eisenhower, his Republican opponent, by name, a procedure that usually is avoided in political speeches by presidential candidates.

Rally
Stevenson spoke at 125th St. and 7th Ave., in the heart of the Negro area which is marked by vast blocks of slum housing, and vowed that if elected public housing would be among his chief programs.

Last month Democratic leaders here were reported to have decided against having Stevenson speak in Harlem during a five-day campaign in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Carmine G. DeSapio, Manhattan Democratic leader, denied later. However, that civil rights figured in the decision. He said the idea for Stevenson's appearance at that time was turned down because of lack of time to prepare a "rousing rally."

In his Harlem speech tonight, Stevenson said that "food and dress and shelter are not all that matter to a good life," and that through the leadership of the Democratic party America has made progress toward fulfillment of man's "inward sense of his dignity, his responsibility and his freedom."

"Yes, we have seen nothing more brazen in the entire record of Republican misrepresentation in this campaign than the Republican efforts to seize partisan credit for progress in civil rights," he said adding:

"They have claimed credit for ending segregation in the armed forces."

"Well, you know, I happen to have been in on that story from the start—and these Johnny-come-lately Republican claims make me pretty disgusted."

Stevenson said he was assistant to the secretary of the Navy in 1941 and 1942 when "we took the first and the hard steps toward removing the racial barriers in the United States Navy."

In July 1948, he said, President Truman "sounded the death knell of segregation in the armed forces" with an executive order.

"That order was issued despite the testimony of Chief of Staff Dwight D. Eisenhower before a congressional committee on April 2, 1948, that complete desegregation in the armed forces would, as he put it, get us 'into trouble,'" Stevenson said.

Giant Tidal Wave
CALCUTTA, Oct. 4 (AP)—A roaring tidal wave nearly 24 feet high swept down the Hooghly River today and lashed into Calcutta, India's largest city, and the railroad terminal of Howrah on the other side.

Avoca will be tied in with the demonstration. Maj. Bethel will be assisted at Mount Pocono by Capt. Rudolph Blitz Jr., operations officer, and Lt. Calvin Pryor.

Maj. Floyd W. Shafer, chief medical officer, will command the 18-bed field hospital at Mount Pocono. "Casualties" will be airlifted from there to A-B-E Airport, where their "injuries" will be diagnosed, and then flown to larger hospitals in Washington, New York and Philadelphia.

Some 1,200 CAP officers and men will join in the exercises. Allentown Chamber of Commerce and others will entertain the USAF and CAP members, military officers, newspaper, magazine, newsreel, television and radio men and the governors. A full-length documentary film of the demonstration, including the part played by the new C-123, will be made for national release later.

Nixon Defends Present Draft

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said tonight he and other Republican candidates do not intend to "kid the American people in an election year" by holding out hopes that the draft can be ended soon.

Nixon, making a nationwide TV-radio broadcast based on the 32-state tour he completed yesterday, took up the draft issue raised by Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson. Stevenson has said the draft should be ended as soon as possible, consistent with the national safety.

Nixon said he thinks Stevenson is well-intentioned, but does not have the "background, experience and judgment" which, Nixon said, qualify President Eisenhower for leadership.

Nixon said he agrees that the draft should be ended as soon as national safety makes it possible, but it was not a subject on which to "kid the American people" in an election year by giving the impression that time will come soon.

Nixon was interviewed, through a television hookup, by eight newsmen from various cities he visited on his 15,000-mile swing. Considering the rigors of the trip, the vice president looked fresh when he appeared, conservatively dressed in gray at a studio here for the broadcast.

On other issues, Nixon had this to say:
FARM MATTERS—Farmers in drought-stricken areas "such as Texas would be in better shape today if Congress had approved prompt payments under the administration's soil bank plan. While the drought can't be blamed on either party, he said the soil bank in the long run would help farmers in the drought areas by encouraging the withdrawal of marginal lands.

POWER AND NATURAL RESOURCES—President Eisenhower "has not had the support he should have had in Congress," Nixon said, for proposals he made under his "partnership" policy of developing public resources with emphasis on participation by local public and private interests. He said resources will not be fully developed if the whole job is left to specific questions, Nixon said he thinks differences with the Philippines over the title to U. S. military bases there will be settled amicably, and that he does not see any danger to this country's Latin-American relations in the assassination of President Somoza of Nicaragua.

Earlier today, the state introduced in evidence an NAACP master plan to use children of what it called "sympathetic whites and Latin-Americans" in breaking down the color line in Texas public schools. The plan called for the parents to enter their children in all-Negro schools.

The state also contended that the NAACP had asked Texas labor leaders recently for "appropriate stimulation" in an NAACP drive to bring its total Texas membership to 25,000.

The master plan for integration was unfolded in the fourth day of an injunction hearing.

Meanwhile, at Beaumont police claimed that a Negro taxicab driver, taking his stepson to school, pickets who surrounded his cab at integration-torn Lamar College of Technology.

Dibble To Assist Levy

SCRANTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Oliver Dibble, 45, a career lawyer in the U. S. Justice Department, today was named an assistant to U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy.

Levy said Dibble was assigned to help alleviate the work load in his office and to review the status of the federal grand jury's investigation of construction of an Army Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna.

Levy previously had asked the Justice Department for the assignment of assistants. He had four until Dibble's appointment. Dibble is a native of Childers, Tex., and has been with the department 20 years.

Directors Of Firm Pleased With Recovery

OFFICIALS of Worthington Mower Co. and its parent firm—Jacobsen Manufacturing of Racine, Wis.—met yesterday in Stroudsburg.

Purpose of the annual meeting was to review progress made in industry-wide during the past fiscal year and to make plans for action during the coming sales year.

End of the sales year for both local and parent firm is Aug. 31. Host to the group was H. G. Sanborn, vice president and general manager of Worthington Mower.

This is only the second time since Jacobsen Co. bought out Worthington Mower in 1946 that the overall directors' meeting has been held in Stroudsburg. Jacobsen Co. also owns the Johnstown Lawn Mower Corp. in Brook Haven, Miss.

Tour Plant
Aside from the general review of business conditions and projected expectations for the coming year, directors toured the local mower plant.

Sanborn said that top officials of the company—including Oscar T. and Elmer A. Jacobsen of Racine, Wis., home office of the parent firm—agreed that a remarkable recovery had been made at the Stroudsburg plant after the disastrous flood in 1955.

Worthington—one of the hardest hit of local plants—staged a swift and dramatic comeback under the leadership of Sanborn and the Jacobsen Co. directors.

Strauss Defends Administration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today Sen. Estes Kefauver "distorted the facts" when he charged the Eisenhower administration with lagging in the field of atomic power.

Strauss also accused the Democratic vice-presidential nominee of resorting to "malicious innuendo" and making "totally false" statements in a speech Kefauver made at Los Alamos, N. M., last Tuesday.

He was prepared to make was possibly to allow some foreign specialists—but not soldiers—to be stationed at the base.

"We are ready to keep the base in readiness and maintain it so it will be ready to use in case of emergency," the foreign minister said.

"Those functions which we are not able to take care of ourselves could be taken care of in other ways, not by troops, maybe by some specialists."

Earlier in the day State Department officials were described as moderately hopeful that a compromise could be worked out to continue U. S. operation of the air base.

Miners To Receive $2.40 Per Day Boost

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4 (AP)—John L. Lewis today signed a new one-year soft coal contract with major producers calling for a whopping $2.40 per day boost in miners' wages and holiday allowances.

The new agreement covers approximately 150,000 of the nation's 200,000 soft coal miners. Lewis said he expected the deal to be a pattern for the rest of the industry.

The signing was done by Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., an organization of major Northern mine owners and "captive" mines owned by steel firms and utilities.

Lewis and Fox hailed the agreement as insuring a continuation of more than seven years of peaceful labor relations in the once strife-torn industry.

Statement
Lewis said the entire nation "will profit" from the continued lack of labor strikes in the industry. He contrasted the recent labor peace to the long era of strikes, court hearings and injunctions in the past and said the new way of doing things certainly was "more comfortable" for all concerned.

The agreement calls for a two-step, eventual $2.00-per-day wage boost. It will bring miners' daily pay eventually to a basic $22.25 rate. The miners will get a $1.20 hike, retroactive to last Monday, and an additional 80 cents effective next April 1. In addition, double time pay for work done on holidays and Sundays was stipulated along with an increase from $140 to $180 for an 11-day summer vacation plus $10 in Christmas holiday pay.

The holiday pay and extra overtime pay provisions were valued at 40 cents per day in addition to the eventual $2 daily boost in straight wages.

The agreement runs to Oct. 1, 1957 or longer unless terminated by either party on 60-day notice.

The agreement had been scheduled for signing yesterday but was postponed over a relatively minor disagreement between Fox and Lewis. This concerned whether the $10 Christmas holiday payment would recur in 1957 provided the one-year agreement was allowed to run that long.

'No Change' In Suit

HARRISBURG, Oct. 4 (AP)—An official of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. said today there was "no change" in the status of counter damage suits between the organization and railroad firms involving 370 million dollars.

"We expect the trial to continue next Tuesday as scheduled," said Edwin Goggin, vice president and general manager of PMTA.

Report
Asked specifically about a report published in the Philadelphia Bulletin which said the association last night turned down the basis of a proposal to settle the counter suits, Goggin replied:

"Both sides have had exploratory talks and they have been held on a high level by people in both industries sharing a mutual respect for each other."

"Both the PMTA and the Eastern Highway Transport Conference have been studying these exploratory talks. Nothing definite has come from these explorations."

Iceland's Foreign Minister Maintains U. S. Must Remove 4,000 Members Of Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Two days of "frank and friendly" talks at the State Department apparently haven't moved Iceland's Foreign Minister Emil Jonsson from his position that American troops must leave Iceland.

"It is now, as always before, the traditional policy of Iceland to avoid the stationing of armed forces in Iceland," Jonsson told a news conference today before leaving today for Reykjavik, the Icelandic capital.

He said his country still wants the 4,000-man American force withdrawn from Keflavik, leaving the giant NATO air base there to be maintained by Icelanders.

Concession
The only concession Jonsson appeared to be prepared to make was possibly to allow some foreign specialists—but not soldiers—to be stationed at the base.

"We are ready to keep the base in readiness and maintain it so it will be ready to use in case of emergency," the foreign minister said.

"Those functions which we are not able to take care of ourselves could be taken care of in other ways, not by troops, maybe by some specialists."

Earlier in the day State Department officials were described as moderately hopeful that a compromise could be worked out to continue U. S. operation of the air base.

Jonsson declined to be drawn out about the possibility of a compromise is being reached at further talks to be held in Reykjavik in mid-November.

No Army
Iceland has no army of its own.

Relations of American troops with Iceland's population have been described as "excellent" by the State Department. But Jonsson said their presence there inevitably created social, economic and political problems.

He compared the 4,000-man American force to the stationing of six million foreign troops in the vicinity of Washington or New York. He said Secretary of State Dulles himself used this comparison in a confidential talk with him Monday.

The premiere is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 on Chs. 3 and 4. With Perry Como as his initial guest star, Winchell also has signed Jimmy Durante and Roberta Sherwood for future shows.

A new cycle of "Crossroads" dramas, presenting stage and screen stars in moving and often heroic experiences of clergymen, begins on Chs. 6 and 7 tonight at 8:30. First in the new series will be "The Comeback," the true story of the courageous return to big league baseball of Lou Brissie, former Philadelphia A's pitcher, after he was gravely wounded and landed in World War Two.

Veteran showman Eddie Cantor and his wife, Ida, and the Atomic Energy Commission chairman, Lewis L. Strauss, and his wife, Alice, will welcome Edward R. Murrow on "Person to Person" at 10:30 p. m. on Chs. 7 and 10.

Robert Ryan stars in "Only Run Once," a suspense drama set in the pioneer West which was immortalized by writings of Zane Grey, when "Dick Powell's Zane Grey Theater" debuts on Chs. 2 and 10 at 8:30.

Other outstanding plays tonight: "Hour of Nightmare," starring Lynn Bari and Bill Bishop at 7 p. m. on Chs. 3 and 4; "The Mystery of Cadet Layton," premiere presentation of the "West Point" series, at 8 p. m. on Chs. 2 and 10, which also will carry "The House That Jackson Built," with Arthur Franz, at 9:30 p. m.

With the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers idled yesterday because of rain, another attempt will be made today to play game No. 2 of the World Series at Ebbets Field. Radio Station WVPO will broadcast the play by play, and Chs. 3, 4, 9 and 11 will bring the game to televiewers.

Pen Argyl To Crack Down On Speeders

PEN ARGYL—Borough Council held its October meeting in the Municipal Building this week. President William Hockin conducted the meeting.

M. Richard Wolford, social studies instructor in the Pen Argyl Area Joint High School, together with 30 members of his senior class in U. S. Government, attended part of the meeting. Borough Solicitor Richard C. Kitto explained in detail the various functions of council and certain phases of the work to be performed. Chief Burgess Harold Albert introduced the members of council in attendance.

The Law Committee report was presented by Councilman Alfred Dally, and it was decided that the petition calling for reduction of the number of councilmen from 12 to eight be circulated for signatures.

Steps are being taken by the council to crack down on young drivers speeding through the town. Burgess Albert, after conferring with Dr. William E. Muth, supervising principal of the Pen Argyl Area Joint Schools, reported that an invitation had been given to the council to meet with the Board of Education on Monday, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m., to discuss the speeding matter. It was decided that the Law Committee, Police Committee, Council President Hockin and Solicitor Kitto meet with the Board of Education.

Check Speedometer
Council decided that the chief of Police arranged to have the speedometer on the police car checked every 30 days in order to check fully with the view of breaking up violations in connection with speeding in the Borough.

Assistant Fire Chief William Savercool, in the absence of Fire Chief Nathan Branch, reported one fire call to the borough garbage dump on Sept. 13 and a call on Sept. 15 to rescue Albert Parry from the abandoned States Quarry hole.

A. Stanley Cuthbert, borough supervisor, reported that work had been completed on Harding Ave. between Laurel and Plainfield Ave. and on Plainfield between Arch and Davey, under the matching fund of the State Highway Department. He also reported work completed on Reservoir Ave. between Moyer and Westbrook.

Council decided that the section of S. Heller Ave. between George St. and Myrtle Ave. be added to the program under State Highway Department streets construction, with Borough Engineer David O. Pritchard to change the plans to conform with the decisions of council.

Savercool reported that lines of the fire alarm system, in the vicinity of the Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church and the road along Weona Park, are in bad condition.

He also reported the fire company had decided it will be agreeable to it to have the Charles Nelson Lobb Post 502, American Legion, of town, take over the maintenance of the Borough Memorial Plaque on the Municipal Building grounds.

Councilman Weldon Farleigh reported that new planks were placed where necessary on the

Linda Henry To Be Installed As Allied Youth President

CRESCO—Linda Henry of Cresco, RD 1, will be installed as president of Allied Youth Post 479 at a meeting at 4 p. m. today at the Barrett YMCA.

In addition to the installation of officers, an impressive initiation ceremony will be conducted for new members.

Others to be installed are Eugene Widdoss, vice president; Virginia Borbridge, corresponding secretary; Lee Anne Bush, recording secretary; and Diane Schwarz, treasurer.

Host
The Cresco Post will play host to Allied Youth delegates from all over the United States and Canada at a conference to be held Nov. 15-17 at Buck Hill Falls.

Miss Henry pointed out that Allied Youth activities are just beginning in Monroe County. Persons interested in starting posts elsewhere in the county may contact Miss bleachers at Pen Argyl Memorial Stadium and that repairs had been made to a leaking water valve in the athletic field.

Council decided that all bids as received in connection with the completion of the Recreation Building at Weona Park be rejected. The action was taken in view of the over-lapping of certain provisions in the specifications and not fully covering the matter of plumbing to be down prior to placing of concrete floors, partitions, etc.

What Is So Wrong About Professions Advertising Something That Is News?

As National Newspaper Week nears its close, we are again reminded that "for ethical reasons" newspaper advertising is not only frowned upon but literally forbidden in some professions.

Those of us who are newspaper folks of long standing have always thought we were considered to be perfectly respectable people in an equally respectable profession. It would appear to us, then, that those persons who refuse to advertise solely "for ethical reasons" are deliberately or otherwise casting aspersions on the legitimacy of newspaper advertising.

It is generally conceded that newspaper advertising is not only a legal but entirely respectable way for men in business or any of the professions to keep the public informed of that there is something to sell or some service to be rendered for a price or fee.

So we newspaper folks reaffirm our fullest belief in our product and its purpose: that of informing the public what is happening in our community whether it be through the medium of advertising or news.

What is so unholly about that? We will match our type of operation anytime against some of the practices that are commonplace in a number of the professions which refuse to advertise.

All of this aversion to the use of paid advertising is not brought about by professional ethics, we are sure, because we have tested it on more than one occasion.

We have found, for instance, that most professional people are not adverse to newspaper items about themselves or their professional activities, for which they do not have to pay.

But when the advertising department gets together a piece of display or classified advertising copy with the same wordage and attempts to sell it, the answer is universally, "Sorry, but out professional ethics do not permit us to advertise."

Why the difference in attitude? We do not know. Perhaps some of our professional friends will be kind enough to supply the right answer.

Effectiveness Of Salk Polio Vaccine Further Demonstrated In Pennsylvania

The Daily Record yesterday carried a story of intense interest to every parent and of great import to every living child and all those as yet unborn.

Polio cases in Pennsylvania, the story advised us, will reach an all-time low this year because of the protection afforded by the Salk vaccine.

To date, 127 cases have been reported to health authorities and the number is not expected to go above 150 for the entire polio season. "Only one or two" of the 127 cases involved persons who received any of the Salk vaccine, a further testimonial to the protection afforded by the serum.

By comparison, 631 cases had been reported in Pennsylvania at this time a year ago and nearly 1,800 in 1952.

The Salk vaccine represents a real triumph over infantile paralysis. Among children who have had all three of the prescribed shots, not a single death has been reported.

In Chicago, chief area of this Summer's epidemic, none of the 663 cases had had the three shots. Of 113 children afflicted in Michigan, only one had been given three injections. Similar statistics are reported elsewhere.

So the U. S. Surgeon General's office and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis now are urging that young adults be inoculated. They recommend shots for everyone up to ages 35 or 40 and say they are a good idea for people of any age.

Judging from our happy experience with the use of Dr. Salk's anti-polio vaccine, all of us would do well to protect ourselves with three inoculations. What cheaper insurance could we buy?

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Democrats Better Organized To Capture Both Houses Of Congress In Next Election

The Fundamental Issue

The "Beaumont, Texas, Enterprise" has stated the issues of this campaign better than I have seen it elsewhere. "Just what is the one big issue of this year's presidential and congressional campaigns? It is an issue neither Republican nor Democratic politicians care to discuss. The one big issue of the 1956 struggle between the Democratic and Republican Parties is this: The Republicans want to stay in power, the Democrats want to get back into power."

No matter what Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver or Harry Truman say for the Democrats, what it all comes down to is that they want to get back into the White House, and no matter what Dwight D. Eisenhower or Richard Nixon say about great issues, what they want is to stay in the White House and all that pertains thereto.

But there is more to the election than a President and a Vice President. The whole of the House of Representatives has to be elected and about one-third of the Senate. In most states, many local officials have to be elected.

The Republicans believe that Ike Eisenhower will be elected. They also recognize that he is in a little trouble; that he will not have anything like the vote that he gained in 1952. The Democrats, on the other hand, are surprised that Stevenson is running so much better than he did in 1952. He is less the quipster and more the politician. The Democrats who six months ago thought that they had no chance at all, now believe that the presidential election, in terms of electoral votes, will be tight and that if California or New York go Democratic, Stevenson might make it. The Democrats believe that they have made unexpected strides in Pennsylvania and Michigan and they think that they can make progress in Massachusetts.

When it comes to the Congress, the Democrats are almost certain that they will hold the seats they have and may even do better. The Republicans are worried about the Congress.

Their trouble is that during the whole of the Eisenhower Administration, too little attention has been paid to state organizations and even to lower levels of politics. What count are patronage and honors. President Eisenhower, accustomed to the West Point career conceptions of the Army, has refused consistently to fire Democrats and to give their jobs to Republicans. He had no desire to institute the spoils system after 20 years of Roosevelt and Truman. That may be a wonderful ideal, but it did not build organization. The competition between the Republican Clubs and the Eisenhower Clubs has done no good, because where as the Republicans have for 20 years kept the Party alive and going, the Eisenhower Clubs included many ex-Democrats and opportunists who were New Dealers when the New Deal was popular and who later hooked on to the Eisenhower bandwagon.

Eisenhower has attracted new elements to the Republican Party, but not enough of them. The Republican Congressional candidates are therefore having a very tough time. Also the inexperienced geniuses from Madison Avenue who are spending much of the campaign money, do not seem to realize that the best way to spend money in a political campaign is to have the local candidates do the spending. This is a very old experience.

The Democrats, on the other hand, have not only retained the strength of their local organizations but they have built powerful bridges with other organizations, the Liberal Party in New York, the A.F.L. - C.I.O., the A.D.A., the Farmers' Union, and there are others. It is true that some of these organizations, such as the A.D.A., may be as unpopular with Democrats as with Republicans, but they have an effective propaganda operation that can make votes in particular areas. To a Republican, the A.D.A. is reprehensible.

The Republicans had similar allied groups among the various anti-Communist and Right Wing organizations, many of whom centered about the leadership of Senator Joe McCarthy. The strength of much of this group has been dissipated, although not entirely. The result is that this element which has stood by the Republican Party since 1932 is now standing away from it as unwanted and no other groups have taken their place. While this may not interfere with the election of Eisenhower and Nixon, it is going to be tough on candidates for the Senate and the House of Representative—very tough.

Jack Webb, famed for "Dragnet" is also producing a TV program, "Noah's Ark" the story of a veterinarian and animals.

We fell asleep waiting for "Dragnet" the other night and a dream Webb got the scripts mixed: Sergeant Friday (on phone). "Uh-uh! Thanks! Okay! We'll get on it right away."

Smith.—Another dog case? Friday.—Nope. Elephant. Bad actor. Won't take hold of another elephant's tail. . . . Refuses to play bass drum!

Smith.—Sounds like trouble. Did we get fingerprints of the murdered man from the zoo people?

Friday.—Careful. We're getting our scripts fouled up. Here's the file. Elephant attacked trainer for trying to put funny hat on its head and dress it like a showgirl. Took refuge in bungalow of missing dog warden. Let's go.

Friday (at door of a bungalow).—Is this the residence of Mrs. Kildare?

Woman.—Yes.

Friday.—You got an elephant here?

Woman.—What's it to you?

Smith (showing card).—Police officers! We have information the elephant that stuck up the armored truck and shot the guards is holed up here.

Friday.—Must I keep warning you about confusing our two video shows?

Woman.—You can't go around busting into decent homes asking whether a lady keeps elephants and truck robbers or not.

Smith.—We've got evidence the express train was dynamited by a tall man with a cauliflower ear and two French poodles not up to any good. The bandit was seen getting off a bus here with a sick reindeer.

Friday.—That's the wrong case,

Smith. Will you never stop bailing up our routines? Hark! I hear footsteps upstairs. You stay here and guard the zoo. . . . Now I'm getting all mixed up, too. . . . You cover the lady, I mean, while I search the hospital surgical room.

Smith.—How could you expect to find a fugitive elephant in surgery?

Friday.—With two TV programs to run anything can happen. (He goes upstairs and calls down) I've got him cornered! Boy, what a moose!

Gangster coming out of a closet.—Okay, I surrender. I shot the cashier. The body is back of the pet shop.

Woman.—Elephants! Poodles! Moose! Reindeer! Bank robbers! Murderer! What's going on here anyhow?

Friday.—Come on down to headquarters, lady. If you didn't harbor the forger, elope with the elephant while still married to the moose and hide the loot under the French poodles you can explain down there who did the shooting and where the seeing-eye dog was at the time the elephant was kidnapped!

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE TV Producer Criticizes What Critics Say Of Him

Ed Sullivan recently gave New York TV critics quite a swat of the hair of the dog that bit him—criticism. This was in chapter two of his "life story" running in a biweekly magazine.

Friend Sullivan—newspaperman and Old Faithful of Sunday at eight, TV-time—states that he's had it from such New York television reviewers as John Crosby, Harriet Van Horne and Jack Gould. For eight long years these "inaccurate and venomous and spiteful" critics have sniped and yowled at him, says TV's great Stone Face.

"TV writers in other cities and towns remote from New York do a much better and more literate job day in and day out than those to be found on the staffs of Manhattan dailies," says Mr. Sullivan. "Perhaps it is because these out-of-town writers basically are newspapermen. The hustle for news. They check their facts. They go to TV studios to see what makes a show tick. Out-of-town writers from almost every city have come to our theater to study the operation of our show. Yet, in those same eight years of weekly telecasting, only one New York TV writer (from the paper printing Sullivan's column) ever has been to our theater."

There now, Mr. Sullivan—temper, temper! It is for sure that out-of-town writers, whatever their assignments, are as literate and competent as those pounding the Madison Avenue beat. And maybe this is as good a place as any to say that the newspaper world knows, has always known, that. To me, the Sullivan remark connotes surprise that such is the case. Oh no—geography never yet bestowed talent or competence.

If the out-of-town folk were interested in seeing a TV show operate, bravo. Who wouldn't be? But this interest has not one iota to do with the job of reviewing. And I can see how it might be a deterrent in writing unbiased viewer reaction.

You can get all tangled up in such considerations. If we understand what the other fellow is going through, we are perforce more understanding of his difficulties, his defeats. But does this understanding make the show any better? I think not.

It must indeed be heartbreaking to have sweated and worried and fought and compromised and stewed over a big show—only to have it flop. (Not that Sullivan's flop any oftener than others; yet he must admit that some are better than others.) It is equally dismal for writers, musicians, plumbers, teachers, politicians to put untold energy and good faith into enterprises—only to have them flop. The amount of labor—unfortunately—has nothing whatever to do with whether the product is acceptable.

Particularly in show business is this true. A drama critic may hang about the rehearsals, watch stage sets constructed, kibitz while actors are coached; but does this insight warrant a favorable review of a perfectly frightful play?

A critic's life is a tough one, in New York or wherever. The "venomous and spiteful" aren't around long, certainly not for eight years. They deal in writing's hardest realm—opinion. How informed their opinions are, the degree of honesty with which they are expressed—these are the moot points. I believe every one of them knows how difficult, how expensive, it is to put a TV show together. That they are well aware of the unhappiness their unfavorable published reaction must create for producers. Yet they are bound to print what they think. If to them a show is lousy, they must say so. If we liked it anyway—well, we're ahead by one program. Right?

"I must have smoked my key!"

Robert S. Allen Reports

Outside Spending Probed In Key Senatorial Races

Washington, Oct. 4 — Senate Elections Committee investigators are uncovering "big outside money" spending in crucial senatorial races.

The Probers are telling Senator Albert Gore (D., Tenn.), chairman, that both parties are pouring tens of thousands of dollars into these contests which will determine the control of the next Senate. Present line-up there is 49 Democrats; 47 Republicans.

Outcome of the momentous Truman surprise victory was due largely to the big majorities rolled up by Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial candidates in key states. Although Truman ran far behind them, in some instances by several hundred thousand votes, they won by such wide margins that they pulled him through.

Senator Gore is quietly scheduling a series of public hearings in the final weeks of the campaign on his investigators' findings.

These preparatory inquiries are still incomplete. Committee agents are busily seeking additional information on the basis of what they have already learned. But they have submitted certain preliminary reports to Gore.

Significantly indicative of their nature are initial reports on Kentucky and Oregon, where three bitterly-contested Senate seats are at stake.

These three seats alone could determine control of the 80th Senate.

Gore has been told by his investigators they have so far definitely established that $114,500 in what they characterize as "outside money" has been sent into Oregon and Kentucky solely for the vital senatorial campaigns.

Of this provisional total, $74,500 is Republican and $40,000 Democratic.

The breakdown as reported by the probers is as follows:

KENTUCKY (Two Senate Seats)
Republican funds
GOP National Committee	$30,000
Senate Campaign Committee	15,000
House Campaign Committee	5,000
Democratic funds	$50,000
Senate Campaign Committee	$25,000
House Campaign Committee	25,000
OREGON (One Senate Seat)
Republican funds
GOP National Committee	$5,000
Senate Campaign Committee	14,500
House Campaign Committee	5,000
Democratic funds	$24,500
Senate Campaign Committee	$15,000
House Campaign Committee	9,500

The $10,000 contributed by the House Republican Committee to the party's three senatorial candidates in Oregon and Kentucky

—former Interior Secretary Douglas McKay, former Senator John Sherman Cooper, and former Assistant Secretary of State Thornton Morton is the only instance on record of such action by this committee in the campaign.

The Senate Democratic Campaign Committee's $40,000 for Senator Earle Clements and former Governor Lawrence Weatherby in Kentucky and Senator Wayne Morse in Oregon, comes from a $115,000 electioneering fund that was raised at a farewell dinner for Sen. Walter George, Ga., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, who is retiring from the upper chamber.

Committee investigators also have told Senator Gore that they estimate total expenditures in these fateful Senate races "will be in excess of $300,000."

They have this view on leads being explored that numerous contributions are now coming from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. According to the agents, most of this money is from Republican sources.

Political.—Former Vice President John Nance Garner is 88 and has been out of active politics since leaving Washington in 1941, but he is intensely interested in the hot presidential contest. The noted Texan averages 100 visitors a week at his Uvalde home, and he eagerly discusses the campaign with all of them. Garner's general opinion is "that the men are pretty Democratic, but the women still like Ike."

The furious and wide-ranging pace of the four rival standard-bearers is playing havoc with newsmen and photographers covering them. A number have had to be replaced by substitutes. The strenuousness of reporting the current type of plane-and-motor electioneering is far different from what it used to be a decade ago. Then most of it was in special trains, and the correspondents and cameramen had a chance to rest up while the trains were enroute. Now the plane hops are so short and frequent that the newsmen get few breathing spaces. They also have to be up before dawn to get to the distant airports on time.

Solicitors Agree On Tax Abatements

Procedures Announced For Project

SOLICITORS of various taxing agencies in Monroe County met yesterday afternoon with Chief Assessor George K. Brands and County Solicitor Leo A. Achtermann to discuss procedures involved in making abatements to flood victims on their 1955 property taxes.

Achtermann, in whose offices the meeting was held, said last night the solicitors agreed on basic procedures in making the abatements.

In cases where the taxes are paid by the agency holding the mortgage, checks will be issued to the property owners, themselves, Achtermann said.

Where the 1955 taxes have not been paid, the county solicitor explained, the records will be marked to show that the assessments for that year have been abated.

"The school districts believe the abatements will be greater than any amount they can pay in any one year," Achtermann said further. "Therefore, in some cases, credits will be carried over into future years."

Achtermann said the county has already issued vouchers for the abatements. He said further that vouchers also will be issued by the Stroud Union School District, Stroud Township, and the Borough of East Stroudsburg.

The following solicitors met with Achtermann yesterday: George T. Robinson, Stroudsburg; Alex Boninger, East Stroudsburg; and the East Stroudsburg School District; Arlington W. Williams, Stroud Union School District; and Grant Nitrauer, Stroud Township.

New State Police Barracks To Be Built At White Haven

WHITE HAVEN—The "most modern" State Police barracks on the entire Pennsylvania Turnpike system is being built at the Pocono Interchange near White Haven.

G. Franklin McSorley, PTC chairman, said yesterday the new barracks will house troopers patrolling the Philadelphia-Scranton Extension of the turnpike.

Both Directions

From this barracks, troopers will patrol the 110-mile extension in both directions on an around-the-clock schedule, McSorley said further. Until it is completed, police protection will be supplied by the turnpike detail station at Allentown.

The White Haven barracks will have facilities for lodging, feeding and recreation, in addition to handling the regular administrative work, the commission chairman reported.

Band Mothers Collect $821 To Date

(Picture On Page 12)

A PRELIMINARY, incomplete report on house-to-house solicitations of Band Mothers Association workers in East Stroudsburg showed $821.77 collected so far last night.

The mothers' organization is attempting to raise funds to buy new uniforms for members of the East Stroudsburg Area School band groups.

"Incomplete"

Officials of the association emphasized that the total was "incomplete" and did not include any funds brought in from other sources.

The drive continues through to the end of this week. A full report will be made Monday night at an organization meeting.

Members emphasized last night that persons who have not been contacted who wish to give to the drive may do so simply by calling either Mrs. Walter Caulfield or Mrs. A. J. Harlacher, co-chairmen of the drive.

This is one of two National Guard organizations in Monroe County now. The newest—Company F—was organized on Monday night.

Organizations To Discuss Understanding

FIVE LOCAL NEGRO organizations will meet again at 9 p. m. Wednesday at the Monroe Elks Lodge in Stroudsburg to discuss the need for understanding the problems affecting their race.

Representatives will come from the Monroe Elks, the Masons, Pyramid, Modernistic and Sportsmen's clubs. These groups held a special joint meeting last Tuesday at the Monroe Elks Lodge.

Consolidate

This week's meeting was called by A. E. Pelham, exalted ruler of the Monroe Elks, in an effort to consolidate the various clubs and to see that their members have a better understanding of the many problems that affect them.

These were listed as living conditions, a better and clearer view of the political situation and the need for a better understanding of the problems facing all of the Negro race.

A club spokesman said the groups are resolved to see that every citizen of Monroe County exercises his privilege of voting for the party of his or her choice.

Area GOP Officials Speak At Meeting

SAVONSBURG — A number of talks by party workers highlighted a pre-election meeting of the West End Republican Club at the Lake House here Wednesday night. About 125 members and guests attended.

George Berg, Republican candidate for representative in Congress, elaborated a great many points which he said qualify President Eisenhower for a second term in the White House. He also recounted his own qualifications for office. Berg, an attorney, has served two terms as mayor of Northampton and has been active in many organizations.

M. F. Crowe, former state senator, cited what he referred to as the poor cooperation Monroe County has received at the hands of the Leader administration in Harrisburg. He mentioned specifically the "lack of progress" in authorizing permanent rehabilitation of roads and bridges following the flood.

Recalls

H. K. Williams, county chairman, recalled that voters have short memories. Only four years ago, he said, the public became tired of what he described as "mismanagement of government" by the Truman administration and voted to elect Dwight D. Eisenhower as president.

This same Mr. Truman, he said, was repudiated by his own Democratic party convention at Chicago and by Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, the party's presidential nominees. But now, Williams added, Mr. Truman is engaging in campaign attacks on the Eisenhower administration's "fine record" and is being embraced by both Stevenson and Kefauver.

A cake walk was held after the meeting to raise funds to carry out the club's campaign activities. Mrs. Blanche Shotwell presided at the session.

New York Couple Hurt In Accident

A NEW YORK couple suffered injuries yesterday in a two-car collision on Route 209, four miles east of East Stroudsburg.

Troopers said Surlis was driving west on Route 209 at 10:30 a. m. when it was in collision with another auto, operated by Raymond W. Foulk, 39, of Dallas, Pa.

Left Turn

Foulk, traveling east, was making a left turn into the driveway of Gershim Lills when the accident occurred. State Police disclosed.

Damage was estimated at $1,000. The investigation is being continued.

Auxiliary To Hold Bake Sale

LADIES Auxiliary of Monroe County Police Reserve will hold a bake sale tomorrow beginning at 9:30 a.m. in front of J. C. Penney store, Stroudsburg.

This time, an auxiliary spokesman said last night, the ladies intend to come fully prepared to meet extraordinary demands—for home-baked bread.

Plenty On Hand
Last time the ladies held a sale like this they thought they had enough supplies of the home-style staple on hand. Result: Before half the day was finished, they'd run out.

Proceeds from the sale benefit public service funds of the reserve and its auxiliary, a spokesman said.

BOSTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The defense continued today its parade of alibi witnesses in an effort to prove the innocence of eight men on trial for the nation's biggest cash theft.

Delaware Water Gap Council Sanctions Refunds On Taxes

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Sanctioning of the refund on 1955 property taxes to those families who had suffered property damages in the August, 1955 flood was concluded by Borough Council at this week's meeting.

Since this is a refund for 1955 taxes, and the tax collector is required to collect all of the 1956 taxes, the money was issued in the form of checks totaling about $400, council reported.

Council petitioned the highway department to permit installation of a traffic light on Route 611 at the entrance to the Ronson lighter plant, which is nearing completion and will be opened soon. Until a decision is reached, borough police will be on duty at 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Broad St. after the plant opens.

Overflow
Council is having work done to correct the overflow of water from Route 611 along the property of Mrs. Mabel Leightner and thence to Oak St. and driveways there. It is also continuing to plan for elimination of stagnant water in fields back of Broad St., where it collects after each rain.

Much consideration was given to the request of Harold B. Crossdale to have part of his property—that which lies along Walnut Lane where a building movement has developed—taken into the Water Gap Borough. While it is a matter that ultimately rests with the voters Councilmen are said to desire that all the Crossdale property and properties up to Brodheads Creek, (which lies beyond Coates Carton Co.) be also taken into the borough. It already has interest in the police and fire protection of this territory.

Robert Lang Services Held

Monroe County Joint Memorial Committee conducted military rites. Commander was Angelo Dellaria; Ronald LeBar was chaplain; Foster Gould had charge of flag presentation; Freeman and Jenkinson were the honor guard.

Boy Scouts Make Plans For Swimming

NEWFOUNDLAND—Swimming will be the order of the day at the next meeting of Newfoundland Boy Scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster Richard McLain, Greentown.

The boys will meet Tuesday, Oct. 9, to go to the West End Swimming Pool in Scranton.

Cookout
A cookout was held Friday, Oct. 5 by the boys.

The weekly meeting of the troop was shortened when the boys were called out to form a posse in the hunt for Thomas Mabey, who was lost in the woods near Panther. After Mabey returned, the boys held patrol meetings for review of code and knot-tying work.

Decorations For Germans

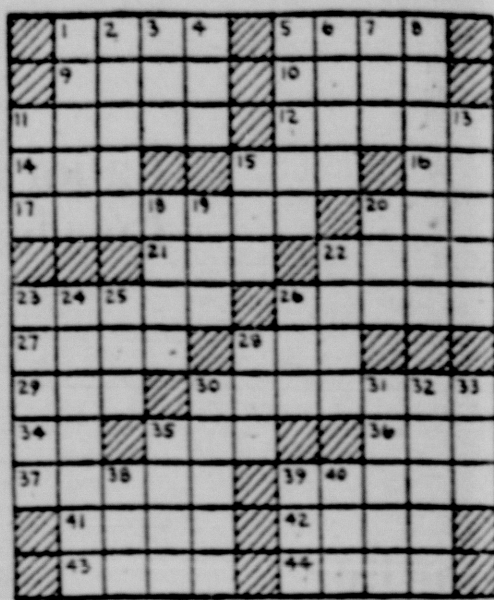

BONN, Oct. 4 (AP)—West Germans soon will be sporting Iron Crosses and campaign medals on their chests again.

The cabinet has approved a bill to let them wear decorations that had been banned by the Allies during the occupation of Germany. It is sure of passage in Parliament.

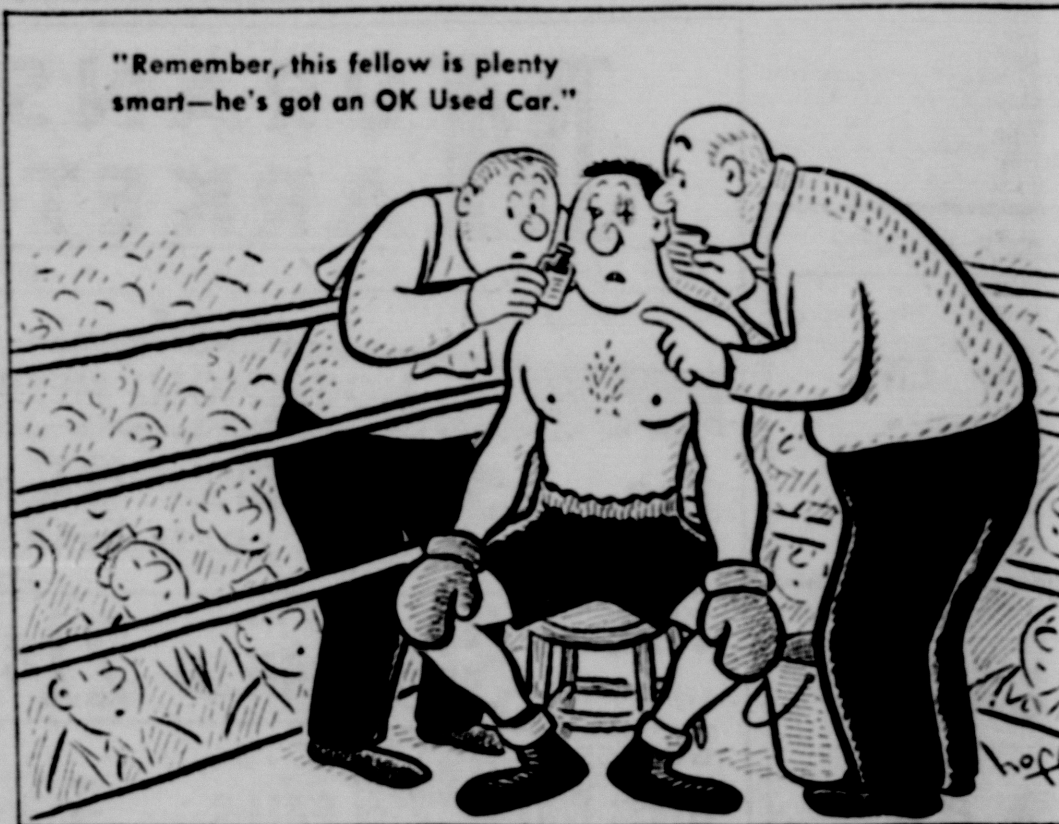

But, said Interior Minister Gerhard Schroeder, Nazi swastikas and such will still be barred.

EAST STROUDSBURG
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"I guess it's just a conversation piece," I finally said. "You wouldn't need television, a record player, or even refreshments. If this were in your living room, everyone would spend the evening trying to figure out a reason for it."

That's when Dick Fredenberg, our Sears assistant manager, volunteered that it was probably a TV tray holder. "You know those TV trays with folding legs? I bet it's for that." But we doubted it—after all, these pine pieces are reproductions of authentic antiques . . . and when the American settler was spinning, weaving, and churning his own butter, he wasn't concerned about folding TV trays and what to do with them. "It could hold guns," Martha Kent and Amy Ellenberger volunteered . . . but Dick said no, that wasn't practical—it was too low for that.

At this point, we appointed Betty Colvin a committee of one to find out from Mr. Wyckoff what the baffling creation might be. While we waited, we studied all the tags on the other merchandise. One shelf with drawers, suspended from a center able light fixture, was very plainly labeled "Eight Drawer Cabinet." A small table was marked "Half Moon Table." A salt box was correctly identified. It was quite obvious that the manufacturer was able to identify anything that we could. It was highly probable that he was as bewildered by the nameless woodwork above our heads as we were.

Even Mr. Wyckoff admitted to confusion, until someone mentioned Dick's remark about trays. "Oh . . . that's it," said my boss. "It really is a table holder. It has a couple of small tables with folding legs. Now where are they?"

By this time, quite a little crowd had gathered around the table of pine pieces. Suddenly it dispersed in all directions—some going in search of the missing tables . . . Dick going back to his job . . . the customers pursuing their shopping in other departments . . . and I heading upstairs to write my column. Come to think of it, I'm a wee bit disappointed that the ending wasn't something more dramatic . . . that the object of our consternation wasn't a wig stretcher . . . or a corset holder . . . or, well, just about anything slightly incredible and ludicrous. I'm glad the mystery is solved, however . . . columns come out of the damndest situations!

East Stroudsburg High Plays Host To Lehigh Eleven Today

Kist's Cavaliers To Seek Third Triumph Of Season In Memorial Stadium Duel

EAST STROUDSBURG HIGH goes after win No. 3 today when the Cavaliers of Jack Kist play host to Lehigh Eleven at Memorial Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Cavaliers, stopped for the first time by Bangor High last week, hope to start a new winning streak at the expense of the winless Indians.

Eastburg holds over Stalington (18-0) and Pen Argy (28-2). Lehigh will come in the game sporting a 6-2-1 record. One of the Indians losses was at the hands of Stroudsburg (25-0).

The injury-hobbled Cavaliers, likely again to be without the services of star halfback Co-captain Frank Lupin, will go along with practically the same lineup that opened against Bangor last week.

Probable Starters

Manning the end posts will probably be Bob Gordon and Wes Werkheiser; Ed Yakencheck and Don Smith or Horace Cole will be at the tackles; Co-captain Roger Strouse and Jim Brimer are slated for the guards, and Dick Wolskyer will handle the center post.

The tentative Cavalier backfield may be Charley Lupin at quarterback, Roger Ray or Ralph Carter and Corky Smith will be at the halfback slots, and Don Miller may start at fullback.

Kist also will have ready Harry Miller, who has been in and out with a bad charley horse, for part time duty, and Bob Herman and Phil Simon set for quarterbacking and halfback work.

Built Around

Lehigh's offense is built around 6-foot, 2-inch quarterback Jim Hoffard, who is a triple threat, doing the running, passing and kicking.

The Indians main running threats, however, are Bill Jacoby, a fullback, and scatback, Jim Wolfe.

Lehigh, as East Stroudsburg, runs from the T, with several spread formations used for a speeded up passing attack.

Lengthy Show At Nazareth Oval Sunday

NAZARETH—Folled by a drizzle last Sabbath the management of the stock car races at the Nazareth Fairgrounds will attempt to unfold their longest speed show of the season this Sunday, 2 p. m.

The feature event—the first marathon of this kind this year—will go for 100 laps. That's exactly 50 miles of non-stop driving!

Fifty modified and sportsman stock cars from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania will battle for a purse that exceeds $2,000. This will be the heaviest race winnings at Nazareth in 1956. Many name drivers will be around to share in the payoffs.

568 Turns

Altogether, there will be 568 turns of racing. To make sure accidents will remain at a minimum the management has mandated the raceway, and put in safety measures to provide drivers with the protection they'll need in case of flip-overs.

The show, to start at 2 p. m., will provide fans with a chance to see the 1956 champion—Otto Harrel, Easton, driving his meteor-engineered No. 999. He'll be the guy to whip this week, and a number of new drivers figure they can do just that.

Plan Memorial

There are acres and acres of free parking. A memorial tribute will be paid the late Lucky Lux, race driver killed Tuesday in a highway crash. Lux raced at Nazareth.

Coach Bill Leckony made no secret of his plans to pass more often against the Indians. Drills this week have stressed the aerial game. Which means that Don Nolan, Junior quarterback from Mechanicsville, N. Y., will have an opportunity to add to his early season passing performance.

Nolan set a single game passing record for Lehigh last week against Delaware. He hit on 12 passes in 20 attempts for a total yardage mark of 183 yards. This broke the old single game record of 169 set by Thomas Gloede against Bucknell in 1954.

Olympic Unit Bars Puerto Rico Athletes

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Oct. 4 (AP)—The executive board of the International Olympic Committee today barred Puerto Rico's athletes from the 1956 games at Melbourne because of government interference and formally re-admitted two other nations which had been dropped for the same reason.

The action, taken at a two-day emergency session, the last before the Olympics open Nov. 22, followed last night's decision to suspend the controversial rule requiring a declaration by athletes that they did not intend to turn professional.

Puerto Rico was removed from the list of competing nations because its national Olympic committee consisted of government appointees.

"Local News"

Avery Brundage, IOC president, said that "certain local laws" were responsible for this condition and the board had acted after receiving a protest from the National Shooting Assn. of Puerto Rico, claiming that it had been excluded from the elections held in Puerto Rican sports federations.

Asked if it would be possible for Puerto Rico to set up an acceptable Olympic committee, Brundage said:

Work Rapidly

"These might be, but they would have to work very rapidly."

L-N Okays Rule Requiring Physicians At Grid Games

RANDOR—Officials of the Lehigh-Northampton Scholastic League last night adopted a resolution requiring high schools to have a physician at all varsity and junior varsity football games.

Meeting at Bangor, the group put the responsibility of having an attending physician upon the home team.

The organization set in motion plans for adopting the 1957-58 basketball schedule which takes in varsity and junior varsity quintets. Final adoption of the state will be made at the circuit's Dec. 13 meeting.

Raise Dues $10

In other action, the fee for each school was raised to $30. Formerly the dues cost $20.

It was also decided to follow the same procedure in selecting basketball officials. The setup, now in force, was organized at the spring meeting of the court mentors.

Present at the session, in which Bangor School District was host, were seven men from East Stroudsburg High and Junior High schools.

Terps Q-Back Loses Bid To Leave Service

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (AP)—Frank Tamburello, drafted Monday virtually off the University of Maryland campus where he had been a star football quarterback, was turned down today in a court move to get out of the Army.

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins refused to order the 22-year-old Tamburello's draft board to reconsider their June 22 classification which led to his induction.

The judge took note that it received "consideration up and down the line." He mentioned it had been upheld by the state appeals board, been referred to the state and national selective directors, and a letter written by Tamburello to President Eisenhower about it.

Charges Bias

Tamburello had based his appeal for relief to the federal court on a petition claiming his draft board had not considered up-to-date information about his college studies when they withdrew his exemption as a student, that he was not granted all his rights, and that "prejudice or bias" was involved.

Weight-Lifter Plans To Marry

TOCCOA, Ga., Oct. 4 (AP)—Paul Anderson, 23-year-old Georgian often hailed as the strongest man in the world, is engaged to be married.

Anderson's engagement to Patricia Gail Taylor, 17-year-old senior at Tallulah Falls High School, was disclosed today by Mrs. Charles Collins, grandmother of the bride-to-be. She said no date for the wedding has been set.

Paul was not immediately available, but his father confirmed the young couple had become engaged. He said the wedding would not take place until next summer.

Young Anderson, a 300-pounder currently is training for the Olympics where his world records are expected to give the U.S. weight-lifting team an advantage.

Ebbets Ground Rules Confuse Stengel

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4 (AP)—Rainy day meanderings:

New York Yankees' Manager Casey Stengel isn't anti-Ebbets field, mind you, but the place confuses him—something like some of the professor's oratory to newsmen . . . "These ground rules around here," he growled while sitting out today's rainout, "they're too complicated . . . I've told my men just to keep running on anything that hits the right-field screen."

Brooklyn Coach Billy Herman has a great time kidding Yank catcher Yogi Berra . . . When Herman spotted Yogi in the run-way under the dugout, he yelled: "Hey, Yogi, how's your umpiring?" . . . "I haven't missed one all season," called back Yogi . . . He has a habit, irritating to the umpires, no doubt, of calling strikes and balls . . . They're all strikes, though.

The two off-timers of the World Series, Brooklyn pitcher Sal Maglie and New York outfielder Enos Slaughter, were holding court together . . . "You know," said Maglie, the hero of the first Dodger victory, "if someone would have told me I'd be in another series two years ago, I'd have said: 'Thanks, but you're dreaming.'"

"Well," said Slaughter, "this is my first series since 1946 (remember how he broke it up?) and there's still a little left . . . I'll be giving it all I have and I must say I feel almost as good now as I did then."

If he gets into a tight spot tomorrow, Stengel probably will call on Johnny Kucks . . . "Our ideal type of pitcher for Ebbets Field is that young fella," said Stengel, "because he makes 'em hit into the ground . . . But he's been pitching better in the last three innings than in the last three before, so he stays in the bullpen."

Someone asked catcher Roy Campanella how the Brooks were going to pitch to Mickey Mantle the rest of the series . . . "Now that's something I ain't telling," grinned the roly-poly backstop . . . "But we ain't going to be pitching to his power, that's for sure . . . He's got too much of it. . . If he's anxious enough, let him do some fishing," . . . which may mean that Sir Michael is going to do some strolling.

One of the happiest members of either team is Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges, who got a home run and a single in the first game . . . Hodges can't forget the '52 series when he went 6-for-21 . . . But the next year he hit .346 in the series . . . "And," he said, "I got off to a good start that year, too . . . I hit a home run off Allie Reynolds in the stadium."

Did you know that Don New-combe, tomorrow's Brooklyn pitcher, almost died at the age of 137 . . . His dad, James Roland Newcombe, a fixture in the Dodger clubhouse, said Don had pneumonia then and "he was sick enough to die . . . We pretty near lost him . . . But when he started to recover, the doctor told us to give him plenty to eat and we'd have a big boy." . . . A true prediction . . . Don is 6-4 and scales 225 pounds.

"The rest of the league must show that it's better than we are and I don't plan to let that happen." . . . Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbets, who picked the Yanks before the series opened, has switched to the Dodgers.

State Schoolboy Gridmen Set For Big Games In Week

HARRISBURG, Oct. 4 (AP)—Battle lines were drawn today in two major Pennsylvania scholastic football conferences with a host of games expected to point the way toward loop championship contenders.

At the same time Lower Merion and Carlisle — only two of last year's major undefeated teams still unbeaten — put their skins on the block against the current campaign moved into its second month.

Here is the way the weekend card shapes up:

Eastern Conference—Top games in the Southern Division feature Mahanoy City at Tamaqua and St. Clair at Schuylkill Haven. Tamaqua is currently leading the division with Schuylkill Haven rated third and St. Clair sixth. Even a Tamaqua win, however, may drop the leaders from the top as Mahanoy City is rated in 13th place 431 points behind Tamaqua.

Another top Southern Division game features second place Cass Twp. at unrated Ashland. Ratings are compiled on the scores of games and strength of opposition.

In the Northern Division, Wilkes-

Barre Coughlin puts the division lead on the line against Newport Twp. while second-place Plymouth ball conferences with a host of games expected to point the way toward loop championship contenders.

Central Penn.—Only a partially blocked kick saved Williamsport from defeat by York on Monday. The defending co-champion Millionaires won 14-13 when they blocked York's second extra point try. They face strong Reading this weekend.

Harrisburg John Harris, now leading the conference, takes on traditional rivals Harrisburg Catholic in an exhibition while Steelton, the other defending co-champ, is at Allentown.

In other games, Bethlehem will be seeking its fourth straight win at Milton Hershey. Cass Twp. is at Sunbury in an Eastern Conference and Keystone League game. Mt. Carmel, defending Keystone co-champ, entertains Kulpmont. Shamokin goes to Pottsville. Hazleton is at Berwick, and Danville defends its Susquehanna League crown at Jersey Shore.

Race Finale At Reading Track Sunday

READING, Pa.—USAC big cars and drivers will make their last mission of the season to Reading Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14, for the running of the first annual "Fall Furies" on the fast half-mile, dirt fairground track.

The meet, a new concept in sprint car racing, will comprise three events. Time trials will begin at 1:30 o'clock, to be followed by two 40-lap features. Some 28 cars will see action in the two rich grinds.

In the first-called The Penultimate—cars qualifying 15th through 28th will compete. And in the second, the 1596 Reading Farewell, the top 14 cars and drivers will go to the post. A purse of $4,500 against 40 per cent of the net has been set aside for the card.

"The two features will give almost all the drivers and owners a crack at the purse," Moyer said in announcing the unique program. "At the same time, race fans have indicated a preference for longer sprint events and this should satisfy their appetites in that respect."

The Cincinnati Redlegs signed catcher Bruce Edwards this summer after the ex-Dodger had batted .295 in 45 games with Vancouver, B. C.

Senators May Move Club To Coast In '57

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald said tonight that Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington baseball club, has disclosed he has under consideration a plan to move the club franchise to California, possibly Los Angeles, for the 1957 season.

The newspaper said in a story from New York that Griffith made the disclosure to reporters who questioned him on the activity of California interests with whom he has been conferring during the World Series.

Retain Control "If we make the move, the Griffith family will still retain control of the team," Griffith said. "We do not plan to sell to anybody."

Griffith said that any decision to move for the 1957 season would depend on American League approval of the transfer before Oct. 31, the deadline on any franchise shifts.

Need 8 Votes

"We would need the favorable votes of six of the eight teams in the league, including our own," Griffith said. "I think they can be counted on, but we would have to take quick action to smooth out the details before Oct. 31."

EBBETS FIELD—Rain fell on this Brooklyn ballpark yesterday but the sun shone magnificently Wednesday when one of the most courageous hurlers ever to toss a ball matched his cunning and ageless right arm against the New York Yankees.

The moundsman, 39-year-old right-hander Sal (The Barber) Maglie, tossed curve after curve by the Bronx batters' hats and came out with the win that could be the shot that will push the Brooks to their second straight world championship.

Maglie wasn't great by no means, nor will his 6-3 triumph go down in history as anything near a masterpiece. But the way the former New York Giant mound star hung on, inning after inning, would tear a string out of anyone's heart.

The Barber, tagged hard and often, had enough left in reserve to get the big outs when they counted. He was superb in the clutch. So magnificent that Manager Walt Alton went all the way with him, where normally the Dodgers would have dickered the right-hander long before the finish.

The 31,000 who watched Sal perform saw a pitcher not a thrower; eyed tops in intestinal fortitude; and glimpsed a man who took the play away from the President of the United States at the end.

There were other stars for the Bums of Flatbush such as Gil Hodges with his 3-run blast; and Jack Robinson with his homer which started Yankee loser Whitey Ford to a short afternoon, and Junior Gilliam whose play in the field was brilliant. However, the veteran who nobody wanted just four months ago was the big man and whether the Brooklyn wins or loses the Series, Dodger owner, Walter O'Malley, can thank his lucky stars that he had the sense enough to shell out the waiver price for Old Sal.

If O'Malley bypassed the Cleveland offer like the other 11 clubs in the two circuits, Brooklyn wouldn't have been in the World Series today and have a 10-0 one-game jump on the odds-makers favorites from the Bronx.

Myrtle Powers, the 60-some-year-old baby sitter who astounded the experts with her knowledge of baseball on TV's $64,000 Question program, had it pegged from the start. She told this writer that Sal would win Wednesday and that the series will go seven games with Sal pitching the clincher for Brooklyn.

Myrt, hounded by autograph seekers, was a guest of the Dodgers via a centerfield boxseat. The women really know her diamond work. Several times she whispered out loud that Mantle was playing too deep. And the way a few of the Brooks baschits fell in short center, the lady from Dixie was right.

A newspaperman from Milwaukee said the reason the Braves participants was because of St. Louis' centerfielder, Bobby DelGreco. The sports scribe said DelGreco literally robbed Milwaukee with five great fielding gems in the final series that broke the Braves' pennant back.

To say the least the Yanks were sluggish from start to finish. More than half of the ground balls hit to the outfield and some to the infield were bobbled. While only one added up in the error department, the lackadaisical maneuvering of the Yanks showed in the final results. Could be the early clinch of the American League flag set the pattern for yesterday's play of Casey Stengel's charges.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his party of 12 entourage opened and closed the day's festivities with a round-the-cinder-path-motorcade. Mr. Eisenhower, beaming from a wonderfully tanned face, waved both arms at all and gave a special big gesture of appreciation to the cheerleaders, who, in turn, gave the President one of his biggest individual section applause.

Like a non-political Flatbush die-hard yelled at the finish, "Brooklyn and Ike, you can't beat that pair."

Rain Postpones Kentucky Race

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 4 (P)—The $53,731 Kentucky Futurity, last leg of the Triple Crown for 3-year-old trotters, today was postponed until Friday because of rain and a soggy track.

Nimble Colby, the only filly entered, is the favorite, though a filly hasn't won since 1937. Second choice is The Intruder, the Hambletonian winner.

The lineup included Nimble Colby, Elton Hanover, Bold Rodney, Moray, Barlow Hanover, Torrence Hanover, The Intruder, Jimmy Lybrook, Ego Hanover, Saboteur, Dean Worthy, Avalon Darnley, Valiant Rodney, H. K. MacPherson and Specialty.

Second Game Of World Series Postponed By Rain

Brooks, Yanks Square Off In No. 2 Today

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4 (P)—For the first time since 1951, rain caused the postponement of a World Series game today, shelving the second game between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers until tomorrow at Ebbets Field.

The weather forecast for tomorrow is "clear and cool". Today's showers were expected to continue through the night.

The postponement, following a conference of Commissioner Ford Frick, the opposing managers and the umpires, was announced shortly after 11 a.m. That was about two hours before scheduled game time — before many ticket holders started for the ball park.

Those using the subways for transportation to Ebbets Field were informed of the postponement over public address systems in the larger stations.

Neither Manager Walt Alton of the Dodgers, who won yesterday's opener 6-3, nor Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees looked upon the postponement as helpful or detrimental to their chances.

Rather Played

Both would have preferred, however, to have played today, even though the extra day's rest may be a help to the Dodger pitching staff, which was overworked during Brooklyn's frantic finish in the National League pennant race.

With the rain, the entire series schedule is moved back a day. The first two games were scheduled for Ebbets Field, with the series to have moved to Yankee Stadium for the next three games beginning tomorrow.

Now, assuming tomorrow's weather will permit play, the first played Saturday, with game No. 6 in the Stadium, will be 4 at the Stadium Sunday and No. 5, if necessary, there Monday.

If the sixth and seventh games are necessary, they'll be played at Ebbets Field Tuesday and Wednesday.

Newk vs. Larson

Both Alton and Stengel stuck to their original pitching selections for the game.

Don Newcombe, a big right-hander with 27 victories in the regular season, will start for the Dodgers. Alton said, however, that the extra day of rest may harm Newcombe's control. "He pitches best after three days rest, not four."

The Yankees' starting pitcher will be Don Larsen.

Adlai To Attend

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president, will attend tomorrow's game at Ebbets Field.

PRESIDENTIAL PITCH OPENS WORLD SERIES—President Eisenhower opens the 1956 World Series between the Dodgers and the New York Yankees with an overhaul lob to Dodger catcher Roy Campanella in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, N. Y. The opposing managers are Casey Stengel (left) of the Yankees and Walter Alton (right) of the Dodgers. Second from right is Ford Frick, Baseball Commissioner. Behind Stengel is Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. Standing next to him and partially hidden is Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey. Ike was the first President ever to throw out a World Series opener ball at the Brooklyn park. The Dodgers won the first series game by a score of 6 to 3.

Stroudsburg Drills Hard For Invasion Of Pen Argyl

COACH JOHN WHITEHEAD'S Stroudsburg High football team tapered off today as the Mountaineers awaited their game with Pen Argyl High on the Green Wave's gridiron tomorrow.

The Mountaineers worked on defensive and offensive tactics all this week, readying for Rudy Penza's Pen Argyl eleven.

Whitehead stressed signal drills and defensive end play in workouts Monday and Tuesday. The Stroudsburg mentor sent his charges through a full scale scrimmage Tuesday with the hopes of tightening up their defense and getting more mobility in the offense.

Except for Fred Stout, a sophomore end, the Mountaineers will be in tip-top shape for the Pen Argyl fray. Stout was injured last Friday when Stroudsburg saw its 2-0 unbeaten mark compile its first setback.

1st P-SB Tilt

The contest will be the first of a Pocono-Slate Belt Scholastic Football Four skirmish for Stroudsburg. Pen Argyl dropped its only P-SB tilt played, losing to Jack Kist's East Stroudsburg High gridmen, 20-2.

Pen Argyl will be looking for its first victory of the season and also its first triumph in over two years. The Green Wave bowed to Eastburg and Catawqua in its only games this year.

Stroudsburg's record shows Lehigh Valley League victories over Lehigh and Emmaus before losing to Palmyerton.

2 P.M. Contest

The contest, slated for Weona Park, will get under way at 2 p.m.

Caldwell Upholds Ivy Grid Rules

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (P)—Charles Caldwell, head football coach at Ivy League member Princeton, today answered a blast at Ivy rules by pro-owner George Preston Marshall by saying "Ivy League football is good for the players, if not for Marshall."

The long-time Princeton coach, replied to the earlier criticism by the boss of the Washington Redskins in a telephone interview at a regular mid-week football luncheon held by Columbia.

It was his only comment when asked about Marshall's statement. Marshall, an outspoken football observer, had said that the Ivy League schools which had created football now were destroying it.

Anthony Set For Ring Test

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (P)—Tony Anthony of New York, one of the country's few light-heavyweight contenders, encounters Clarence Hinant, a hometown boy with a good knockout record, in a 10-round bout at Capitol Arena tomorrow night.

Anthony himself has a better than fair kayo punch, having stopped 21 of his 27 victims in 31 fights.

The New York boxer, a 1952 Olympic Games performer in Ring Magazine's seventh ranked challenger for Archie Moore's light-heavyweight crown.

State Farm Life Insurance Company Sets Sales Record

A NEW record for the life insurance business was set in September by State Farm Life Insurance Company, Bloomington, Illinois, William H. Arnold, agent here for the State Farm Insurance companies, announced yesterday. The life firm passed the mark of one billion dollars of life insurance in force in its 28th year, the shortest time in which this total has ever been reached through direct sales by agents.

State Farm agents here were saluted in a personal letter from A. W. Tompkins, executive vice president—agency of the State Farm companies, for their help in reaching the new high mark. Through August 31, of this year, the State Farm field force paid for more than $140,000,000 of new ordinary life insurance.

William H. Arnold

Organization
State Farm Life Insurance Co. was organized in April, 1928. At June 30, 1956, its assets exceeded $114 million and its surplus, $15,500,000. The life company is an affiliate of State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company and State Farm Fire and Casualty Co. The auto company now insures 4,500,000 automobiles, more by far than are insured by any other company. This is State Farm Mutual's 15th consecutive year of auto insurance leadership.

Strides in the driver education program in the high schools of Pennsylvania and the nation through the contribution being made with the support of new car dealers were cited today by Jess Haynes of Monroe County. Haynes is area chairman of the publicity committee of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association.

Haynes pointed out that E. W. Parkinson, Harrisburg, Assistant Manager of PAA, disclosed that Pennsylvania's new car dealers are loaning a million and a quarter dollars worth of cars to the Pennsylvania high schools for use in the program at a meeting of the group's Safety Committee held in Harrisburg.

The committee also heard high praise from Prof. Amos E. Neyhart, Administrative Head of the Institute of Public Safety, Pennsylvania State University, who spoke at the session, on the contribution new car dealers are making to the program which he declared will save countless thousands of lives in future years in highway fatality tolls.

Statement
"Pennsylvania's new car dealers, with the start of the 1956-57 school term," Parkinson stated, "are loaning a minimum of 550 new cars to schools for use in driver education programs."

"During the 1955-56 school term," he continued, "the nation's new car dealers established another record year in support of high school driver education when 9,253 cars, valued at nearly $21,000,000 were made available to the nation's high schools. The number of cars made available last year increased by 1,174 the total of the previous year and included cars furnished to public, private and parochial schools."

John F. Schaible, president of Schaible's Bakery, Inc., of Easton, Pa., was elected treasurer of Quality Bakers of America Cooperative, Inc. of New York City at a Directors' Meeting held on Sept. 26.

Quality Bakers of America is a cooperative owned and operated by its 125 members. Plants are located in 38 states, Canada, Hawaii, and Bermuda, with a total annual sales of $250,000,000.

Other officers of Quality Bakers of America are Joseph P. Duchaine of New Bedford, Mass., president; Fred A. Cobb of Green Bay, Wis., vice president; and Lawrence H. Duckles of New York, secretary.

Schaible will also continue as President of Schaible's Bakery.

Industrial Group To Make Plans

A MEETING of the Industrial Development Committee of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce will be held next Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. in the new PP&L Co. office on Phillips St. near Eighth.

J. Horace Strunk, executive secretary, said steps will be initiated toward a new comprehensive survey of the resources and industrial potential of Monroe County. The survey is being planned with a view of attracting new industries to the area.

Discussion
Taking part in the discussion will be Dr. Earl P. Strong, director, Bureau of Business Research, College of Business Administration, Penn State University.

Paul McBride will preside. Also to be discussed will be the publication of a proposed new industrial brochure for Monroe County.

How Would You Like A Swimming Pool In Your Back Yard?

Rotary Clubs Hold Own World Series

MOUNT POCONO—Rotary clubs in Cresco, Newfoundland and Mount Pocono are engaging in their own type of world series—an attendance contest running from Oct. 1 to New Year's Eve.

The contest evolved out of a challenge issued by President Paul Asure on behalf of the Mount Pocono club to the other two groups. It was accepted immediately. All three clubs have memberships under 50 men.

Losing
The losing club will be host to the other two at a combined affair to be selected by the losers. Regular scores will be posted in each club.

Attendance chairmen are: Mount Pocono, Joseph Strohsch; Newfoundland, Lorimer Brown, and Pocono Mountains, Charles Geisinger.

About 33 per cent of the total are imports into the U.S. in 1955 came from India.

Firemen Plan Supper

NEWFOUNDLAND—A community supper, sponsored by the Greene-Dreher Volunteer Fire Co., was discussed at the October meeting of the association held this week at the fire hall.

The event will be held in November or early December, it was decided.

Bruce Banks, president of the unit, presided at the session at which a lengthy discussion of the new short wave radio apparatus purchased by the company with Civil Defense matching fund aid. Fire Chief Charles Ehrhardt operates the equipment at present, but each of the firemen is receiving instruction on the emergency apparatus.

Bible Lessons Bring Peace To Troubled

By HERMAN R. ALLEN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Early this year a tired and troubled man dropped into a cafe in Vancouver, B.C.

"Someone had left a card on the counter. It offered free Bible lessons."

"Why I picked it up," William J. Graham recalled later, "I don't know. It almost forced itself into my pocket. Now I can see it was the providence of God."

"I sent to Los Angeles and got my first Bible lessons. A little book, 'Steps to Christ,' was enclosed. My son was in trouble, and I wondered if I ordered one of these books for him, would it do him any good? I did order one for him from the Bible school."

Death House
Graham's son, Robert, 24, was indeed in trouble. He was in the death house of New Westminster Prison, sentenced to hang for the murder of Harold Holman, 21, kicked to death in a fight.

The story is told in the Seventh-day Adventist publication, Review and Herald, quoting from a tape-recorded interview between the elder Graham and the Rev. R. A. Rentfro of the Vancouver Adventist church.

"When your son read the book, what was his reaction?" Rentfro asked.

"He not only read the book through," Graham replied, "but the warden tells me that he memorized it from cover to cover."

"Would you tell us what your son's final request was concerning the book?"

"He requested that the Adventist church supply a number of copies for his personal friends and for the members of his immediate family, hoping of course that it would lead them to Christ as it had him."

The church gave 50 copies of the 126-page pocket-sized book to the father to be distributed as his son had asked.

Robert Graham was hanged last May 22.

"He faced death," reports Rentfro, "with peace in his heart and full confidence in his Savior."

"This type of experience," says Seventh-day Adventist headquarters in suburban Takoma Park, Md., "has occurred many times."

The book was written in 1892 by Ellen G. White, Mrs. White, who never finished grammar school, was one of the pioneers of the Adventist faith. She died in 1915. Altogether she wrote 45 "Steps to Christ" books on education, health, theology and the home.

75 Languages
"Steps to Christ" has now been printed in 75 languages and duplicated in the Kikuyu dialect of West Africa.

Five languages have just been added: Korean (with English in parallel columns), Turkish, the Tongan dialect of the South Pacific, and Ibo and Yoruba, which are West African tongues. It is also produced in braille and "talking book" records for the blind.

More than eight million copies have been sold, a half million to an organization supplying books to the armed services in the two world wars and the Korean fighting.

Democrats Hopeful Kefauver Will Be Popular Enough To Lure Iowa From Republican Ranks

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by AP's veteran political reporters who are surveying sentiment in key states across the country.

By OVID A. MARTIN
DES MOINES, Oct. 4 (AP)—Estes Kefauver and the price of hogs make up a combination of which Democrats are counting to turn traditionally Republican Iowa into the Democratic election column Nov. 6.

Interviews with scores of farmers indicate the Tennesseean, nominated by the Democrats for the vice presidency, is considerably more popular on this state's farms than is Adlai Stevenson, the party's presidential candidate. The words of 54-year-old William Rooney, farmer near Farrar, are typical.

"If that man with the coonskin cap were running for president, he would win," said Rooney. "He's another Abraham Lincoln."

Farmers generally said they did not like Stevenson as much as Kefauver "because he doesn't talk our language. He's not earthy enough."

But Democrats are counting heavily on Kefauver to change the present political outlook—which on the basis of views expressed by political leaders, farmers and farm leaders, business and professional men and newspaper men—is for an Eisenhower victory in the state.

Hog and cattle prices between now and election time could figure importantly in the campaign. Alfred Loveland, of Waterloo, undersecretary of agriculture under the Truman administration and later a Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, predicted that if hog prices drop below $15 a hundred pounds, Stevenson will win.

Many individual farmers concurred in Loveland's view—including several Republicans. Hog prices are the root of a decline in Republican prospects. Four years ago Eisenhower won Iowa by a majority of 357,000 votes. Although predicting victory again this year, GOP State Chairman Don Pierson says the margin may be reduced to 100,000.

Pierson and other party leaders say the loss of votes will be mostly among farmers. Last year hog prices dropped to as low as $10 a hundred pounds. Overproduction was a major factor.

Claiming heavy losses at these prices, many farmers said they have decided to vote for Stevenson because they believe the Democrats will do more to hold farm prices and income up. Aggravating the farm situation have been crop losses from drought this year in several areas.

No major shifts in votes are apparent among other groups in the state. Most "Main Street" businessmen are Republicans. Exceptions could be found

State tax increases under Hoegh—designed for school and highway aid—are under bitter attack.

Everyone has his own ideas of what makes a home comfortable, good-looking and livable. Does your home measure up to your ideas? Or could it, at reasonable cost?

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Such a common thing as unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with racing backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—get in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 16 miles of kidney tubes.
